

There is a legitimate groundswell of national sentiment against the FCC ownership rules under current Chairman Powell. I urge state by state hearings, not to hear from affluent lobbyists, but from the people of America who are increasingly informed on this issue, and who are seriously concerned with the growing lock on American media by a few super-conglomerates. Democracy as we have known it is at serious risk and jeopardy, and this is apparent to most educated Americans. Listen to them speak out against current policies and procedures and you will hear their discontent.
